Group Mobility FRANCE 10-2024

A day at school..

We were also given the opportunity to take part in various lessons to get an understanding what an ordinary day at this French school could look like.

First, we got the chance to participate in a philosophy lesson which was quite interesting, as this is a subject that is not even a part of our curriculum, meaning that it was a completely new subject matter for our students.

As well as a very exciting and practical lesson in physics where our French colleague had gone to great lengths to prepare some stimulating worksheets and practical tests to compare how electricity is produced in Austria and France. The students got great joy out of working their through the material and supporting each other through the discoveries made.

The students were also invited to take part in various activities during break times, for example a competitive game of volleyball with Austria vs France... They took no prisoners...
